

12 September 2019

FOBAS Bulletin: Sulphur 2020 Online Course Now Available

Applicability: All FOBAS Clients

We have just recently launched the first Lloyd's Register online Marine and Offshore training course. It has been launched to help our clients prepare for the new Sulphur 2020 regulations.

- All details are available on the Lloyd's Register public website at www.lr.org/training.
- Please type "sulphur 2020" into the search box and two courses will be shown.
- The first course is called "On board ship - 2020 readiness for using 0.50% fuels." Select this course and a new page appears with details of the course.
- At the bottom of this page is a "book now" button. If you select this you will be redirected to the client portal where the course is held.
- On this client portal our clients can register and book the course. They will now have access to complete the course for 12 months.

If you have any further queries please contact FOBAS team on fobas@lr.org and they will direct you to the teams managing the e-training facility. This course will form part of our Sulphur 2020 offering the marketing of which will be formally launched in a couple of weeks by the M&O marketing department in Southampton GTC. This online course is however available to all FOBAS clients NOW.

